

Standing from left: Dr. Omar A. Tamimi; Dr. Kenneth D. Glazier; Dr. Edgar G. Bigornia. Sitting from left: Dr. Jai Mirchandani, Dr. Jill A. Collier

HONOR ROLL
YEARS
ON THE LIST

Dr. Glazier | 1

Kenneth Glazier, MD

Preventing colon cancer is a personal crusade for board-certified gastroenterologist Dr. Kenneth Glazier, who has a family history with the disease. "Colon cancer is America's second biggest cancer killer, yet it's preventable through early screening," he says. He recommends having one's first colonoscopy at age 50. Chair of gastroenterology at Community Medical Center, he regularly performs colonoscopies, upper endoscopies, gallstone removals and hemorrhoid repairs, and is an expert in treating inflammatory bowel disease as well as Crohn's disease.

Dr. Glazier is respected as a knowledgeable, thorough physician with a warm smile—and one who doesn't keep patients waiting. His diverse group offers compassionate medical care to patients from varied backgrounds. The practice owns and operates the Endoscopy Center of Ocean County and the Endoscopy Center of Toms River, two friendly clinics for routine procedures.

A clinical assistant professor, Dr. Glazier guides Rutgers RWJ Medical School students with their first hands-on experiences. He screens underserved Ocean County residents for colon cancer through New Jersey's Cancer Education and Early Detection program. "I appreciate my opportunity to heal, decrease suffering and make a positive difference in people's lives," he says. "It's immediately gratifying to remove a painful gallstone or prevent colon cancer from spreading."

HOSPITAL AFFILIATIONS: Community Medical Center, Toms River; Ocean Medical Center, Brick. MEDICAL TRAINING: Northwestern University Medical School (MD); Boston City Hospital (residency); Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons (fellowship); UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School (fellowship).

Gastroenterologists of Ocean County

477 and 473 Lakehurst Road
Toms River, NJ 08755

939 Lacey Road
Forked River, NJ 08731

1617 Route 88 West
Brick, NJ 08724

732-349-4422
gastroocean.com